

Accredited Training

If you want to provide your employees with a nationally recognised qualification and enhance your organisation's reputation for quality then we can help you:

- * To accredit existing training programmes.
- * To develop new qualifications.
- * To create a corporate university.

Our learning model is entirely flexible and is customised to meet the needs of your learners by combining class room sessions with distance learning and remote tutor support via email or virtual campus.

When helping you to design or implement any new programme we ensure that it will address the specific needs of your organisation and deliver the results you want to achieve.

Corporate University »

With our help it's quite straight forward to create a corporate university for your organisation.

Accreditation Service »

With our help you can accredit existing training programmes or develop a new nationally accredited qualification for your organisation.

Learning Material Development »

We can help you to design and develop the learning solution that is right for your organisation.

For more information contact Linda de-Lay on 2992 0133 or email grow@rdihongkong.com